© 2017 Participatory Ecological Land Use Management (PELUM) Kenya

Ecological Organic Agriculture Initiative (EOAI) is a Pillar based initiative responding to the Africa Union (AU) decision, with an overall goal of mainstreaming Ecological Organic Agriculture into national systems by 2025 in order to improve agricultural productivity, food security, market access and sustainable development in Africa.

The Africa Union Heads of State decision EX.CL/Dec.621 (XVIII) in support of Ecological Organic Agriculture (EOA) was passed in the 18th Ordinary Session in January 2011. The Lead Coordinating Organizations for the initiative are Participatory Ecological Land Use Management (PELUM) Kenya and Biovision Africa Trust (BvAT).

PELUM Kenya hosts the Regional EOAI Secretariat. PELUM Kenya is a Kenyan network which works with its member organizations to promote ecological land use management practices and principles for improved livelihoods among small holder farmers.

This directory has been prepared by PELUM Kenya on behalf of EOAI Eastern Africa Regional Steering Committee.

ABOUT ECOLOGICAL ORGANIC AGRICULTURE INITIATIVE

EOAI is a continental initiative whose overall goal is to mainstream EOA into national agriculture systems, policies and practices by 2025 in order to improve agricultural productivity, food security, access to markets and sustainable development in Africa.

EOAI Vision

Resilient and vibrant Ecological Organic Agricultural systems for enhanced food and nutrient security, and sustainable development in Africa.

EOAI Mission

To scale up ecologically and organically sound strategies and practices through institutional capacity development, scientific innovations, market participation, public policies and programs, outreach and communication, efficient coordination, networking and partnerships in Africa.

The Overall Goal of the EOA Initiative

To mainstream Ecological Organic Agriculture into national agricultural systems by 2025 in order to improve the quality of life for all African citizens.

Core Values

The EOA initiative values are grounded in the reality of sustainable agricultural practices;

- Biodiversity, respect for nature and sustainable development
 - Promote family farming cultures, indigenous knowledge, cultural practices, and wisdom
 - Embrace fairness and justice to the ecosystem
 - Promote safe, nutritious, healthy food
- EOAI is a continental initiative whose overall goal is to mainstream EOA into national agriculture systems, policies and practices by 2025 in order to improve agricultural productivity, food security, access to markets and sustainable development in Africa.

EOAI OBJECTIVES

1. To increase documentation of information and knowledge on organic agricultural products along the complete value chain and support relevant actors to translate it into practices and wide application.
2. To systematically inform producers about the EOA approaches and good practices and motivate their uptake through strengthening access to advisory and support services.
3. To substantially increase the share of quality organic products at the local, national and regional markets.
4. Strengthen inclusive stakeholder engagement in organic commodities value chain development by establishing national, regional and continental multi-stakeholder platforms to advocate for changes in public policy, plans, programs, and practices.

EOAI Strategic Focus/Pillars

1. Research, Training and Extension Pillar: Understanding research and training gaps within EOA value chains and undertaking activities to fill them.
2. Information and Communication Pillar: Creating awareness and strengthening EOA extension support systems through diverse information and communication strategies, products and technologies.
3. Value Chain and Market Development Pillar: Stimulating development of sustainable markets and increase trade in traditional and high value agricultural produce both at domestic and export levels within EOA.
4. Networking and Partnerships Pillar: Promoting engagement by relevant stakeholders including governments, farmers, civil society, private sector and the international community.
5. Policy and Programme Development Pillar: Supporting the development and implementation of enabling policies and programmes.
6. Institutional Capacity Development Pillar: Supporting and equipping professionals with skills and competencies to promote EOA in Africa.

WHAT IS ORGANIC AGRICULTURE?

“Organic Agriculture is a production system that sustains the health of soils, ecosystems and people. It relies on ecological processes, biodiversity and cycles adapted to local conditions, combines tradition, innovation and science to benefit the shared environment and promote fair relationships and a good quality of life for all involved.”
International Federation Organic of Agriculture Movement (IFOAM).

WHAT ARE ORGANIC FOODS?

Organic produce or products are produced and processed through a system that encourages biological natural processes on the farm, allows farm animals to exhibit natural behavior and excludes the use of synthetic pesticides, chemical fertilizers, antibiotics and genetically modified organisms.

WHY ORGANIC FOOD?

Healthy Consumers:	Organic food is naturally full of healthy nutrients
Chemical free:	Organic food has no harmful chemical residues, additives, and artificial colours
Great taste!	Organic food is naturally tastier
Naturally healthy:	Organic food is naturally full of healthy nutrients
Environmentally friendly:	Organic production does not pollute or degrade the environment, is climate friendly and encourages biodiversity
Healthy farmers:	Does not cause diseases to farmers through chemical sprays
Patent free seeds:	Organic farming avoids genetically modified foods/GMOs and encourages conservation and sharing of indigenous seeds
Harmony with Mother Nature:	Organic production promotes soil health, plant health and animal health
Respects traditional wisdom:	Organic farming recognizes local farmers' indigenous knowledge
Sustainable food security:	Organic farming is in line with sustainable farming practices

A group of people, including men and women, are gathered in a rural, agricultural setting. In the foreground, a man wearing a pink shirt and a white beaded hat is watering a plant in a hole using a traditional watering can. The watering can has a wooden handle and a woven basket-like base. To his left, a woman in a white top and a colorful patterned skirt is looking on. In the background, another woman in a striped top and a man in a yellow and red striped shirt are visible. The ground is dark soil, and there are some green plants and a blue bucket nearby. The overall scene suggests a community engaged in organic agriculture.
